BIG Birthday Wish!

To celebrate her big day, screen legend Raquel Welch didn't get presents — she gave them: wigs to women with cancer

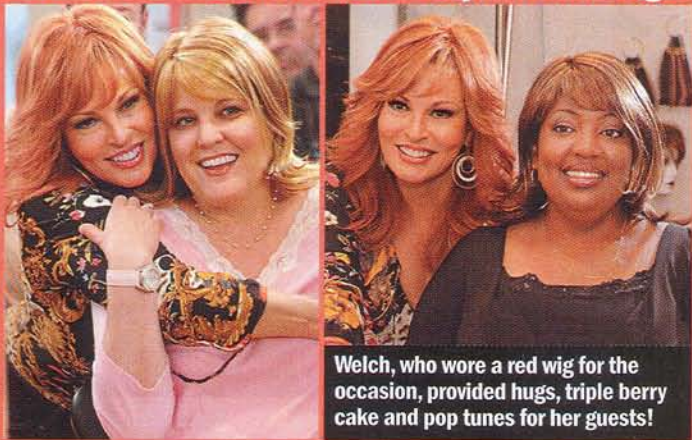

FOR a woman who has everything, what could Raquel Welch possibly wish for on a birthday as monumental as her 65th? Not what you might think! The bombshell actress, last seen on the big screen in Legally Blonde, eschewed a fancy party and instead hosted a beauty party on Aug. 29 for a group of eight women suffering illness-related hair loss at Naimie's Beauty Center in L.A. She provided the women with wigs and makeovers and donated $1 million worth of wigs from her Raquel Welch Signature Collection to the American Cancer Society. "I thought that giving to others would be the best way to celebrate," says Welch, whose collection is available on wigs.com. "These women had such great spirits, being around them was the best gift of all!" — SARAH HAIGHT & TARA KRAFT ★

Va-va-voom! Welch showed off her curves in a bikini in 1966. She's just as sexy today!

Welch's Guests Model Their Stylish New Wigs

Welch, who wore a red wig for the occasion, provided hugs, triple berry cake and pop tunes for her guests!
